

Biographies of Panelists

Name	Biography
Abella Rosalie Silberman	Rosalie Silberman Abella practised civil and criminal litigation until she was appointed to the Ontario Family Court in 1976. She subsequently chaired the Ontario Law Reform Commission and the Ontario Labour Relations Board. Justice Abella was the sole Commissioner and author of the 1984 Royal Commission on Equality in Employment, which created the term and concept of employment equity and whose findings have been implemented by the governments of Canada, New Zealand, Northern Ireland, and South Africa. She was the Boulton Visiting Professor at the McGill Law School from 1988 to 1992 where she taught administrative law, constitutional law, and jurisprudence, and was a judge on the Ontario Court of Appeal for 12 years. She is a specially elected Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada and of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, as well as a graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Music in classical piano. She was a judge of the Giller Literary Prize, and has written over 90 articles and written or co-edited four books on a wide variety of legal topics. She has 27 honorary degrees. Justice Abella is married to Canadian historian Irving Abella and they have two sons, Jacob and Zachary, both lawyers. She was appointed to the Supreme Court of Canada in 2004.
Akhavan, Payam	Payam Akhavan is Professor of International Law at McGill University in Montreal, Canada. He earned his Doctorate from Harvard Law School and was previously Senior Fellow at Yale Law School and Distinguished Visiting Professor at University of Toronto. He is the author of numerous publications and his 2001 article "Beyond Impunity" in the American Journal of International Law has been recognized as one of "the most significant published journal essays in contemporary legal studies." Professor Akhavan was the first United Nations war crimes prosecutor at The Hague, and played a key role in the trial of Yugoslav leaders such as President Milosevic. He also served with the UN in Bosnia, Cambodia, Guatemala, East Timor, and Rwanda, and has been appointed as legal counsel in leading cases before the International Court of Justice, the International Criminal Court, and the European Court of Human Rights. Professor Akhavan has been a prominent advocate of human rights for Iranian political prisoners, is Co-Founder of the Iran Human Rights Documentation Centre, and has been at the forefront of efforts to bring Iranian leaders to justice for crimes against humanity. He has been appointed by the Government of Canada as a Director of the International Centre for Rights & Democracy, recognized by the World Economic Forum as a Young Global Leader, and his work has been featured in the New York Times, Maclean's and other media.
Bernes, Thomas	Thomas A. Bernes was the Director of the Independent Evaluation Office of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) from 2005 to August 2009. Previously, he was Secretary of the joint IMF-World Bank Development Committee and Deputy Corporate Secretary of the World Bank. From 1996 to September 2001, Mr. Bernes was the IMF Executive Director for Canada, Ireland and the Caribbean. Prior to that, he was Assistant Deputy Minister of Finance in Canada and served as the senior

Name	Biography
	international economic official representing Canada at high-level meetings. In addition to holding various senior finance, foreign affairs and trade policy positions within the Canadian government, Mr. Bernes served as head of the General Trade Policy Division of the OECD in the mid-1980s.
Bourgon, Stéphane	Stéphane Bourgon is a Canadian Military College graduate, former logistics officer and military legal advisor who served in the Canadian Armed Forces for more than 20 years, specializing in criminal law and international humanitarian law. In 1995, Mr. Bourgon was selected to be a member of an international group of experts mandated to teach the law of armed conflict and human rights law to the senior leadership of the Army of Burundi. In 1996, he was assigned as Legal Advisor to the Commander of the 2nd Canadian Multinational Brigade with the NATO Implementation Force (IFOR) in Bosnia and Herzegovina. In 1998, Mr. Bourgon completed his master's degree (LL.M) in international criminal law before joining the Office of the Prosecutor of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY), as legal advisor – international law. In November 1999, he was appointed chef de Cabinet for the President of the International Tribunal, H.E. Judge Claude Jorda, a position he held for more than two years, ensuring amongst other things, the liaison between the ICTY and Security Council member States. In 2002, Mr. Bourgon returned to the courtroom as Defence Counsel assigned to represent General Hadžihasanović – former Chief of Staff of the Army of the Republic of Bosnia and Herzegovina (ARBiH). To this day, he has been involved as Defence Counsel in eight trials before the ICTY. In October 2003, and again in 2004, Stéphane Bourgon was elected President of the Association of Defence Counsels practicing before the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ADC-ICTY). He is on the Executive Board of the International Criminal Defence Attorneys Association (ICDAA) as well as a member of the International Criminal Bar (ICB) Mr. Bourgon is regularly invited as guest speaker, lecturer and trainer on many topics for groups of Judges, military officers, legal professionals and students from many different countries. In 2007 and 2008, he was lecturer in international criminal law at the University Center for International Humanitarian Law (UCIHL / CUDIHL) in Geneva. He presently represents before the ICTY, Drago Nikolić - one of seven accused in the largest case to this day, the Srebrenica genocide trial – as well as Veselin Šljivančanin, on appeal in the Vukovar Hospital case.

Name	Biography
	In 2009, Stéphane Bourgon was awarded the prestigious advocatus emeritus distinction by the Barreau du Québec.
Buckingham, Don	Before assuming the position of Chairperson of the Canada Agricultural Review Tribunal in 2009, Dr. Buckingham acted as a private lawyer, government lawyer, law professor, author and consultant in the areas of agriculture, food, constitutional, administrative and international trade law. Dr. Buckingham has been a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada since 1988, a law professor at universities in Canada (Western, Saskatchewan and Ottawa), France (Montpellier 1) and South Africa (Stellenbosch) and is author or co-author of several articles and books, including Agriculture Law in Canada (1999), Halsbury's Laws of Canada-Agriculture (2009) and Halsbury's Laws of Canada-Food (2009). Born in Lloydminster, Saskatchewan, he has resided with his wife and two children in Ottawa for the past decade.
Burnside, Graham	Superintendent Graham Burnside was born and raised in Manotick, Ontario. His father was a civil engineer and his mother was a soprano soloist/voice and theory instructor. Graham pursued neither of these vocations. Instead, he attended Carleton University and secured a bachelors degree in criminology and law. Graham briefly thought about attending law school (very briefly), but instead chose the RCMP as a career path. In 1982, he moved to "Depot Division" in Regina for six months basic training. Upon graduation he was posted to Selkirk Manitoba. Selkirk was the commencement of a twenty year tour of duty in Manitoba. He enjoyed further postings in Thompson (twice), Dauphin and Virden. Duties ranged from general uniform duties, drug enforcement, major crimes and ultimately a detachment commander. In 2002 he received a Queens commission to the rank of Inspector and transferred to Ottawa as the Officer in Charge of the RCMP's sole War Crimes program. The program was engaged in "extra territorial" criminal investigations into atrocities committed during modern conflicts abroad. He received significant exposure to international policing in countries such as Bosnia Hercegovina, Croatia, Serbia, Rwanda, Honduras and Chile. In 2007 he was promoted to the rank of Superintendent and as a Program Officer, he managed six programs in RCMP "A" Division, including War Crimes. In October 2008 he transferred to RCMP HQ Ottawa and to his current role as Director of Federal Enforcement Branch which also happens to be the policy center for War Crimes. Graham and his spouse Laura reside in Ottawa, and are the parents of five children/step-children, all between the ages of 17 and 22.
Campbell, A. Neil	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Partner in and Chair of the Competition Group and the International Trade Group. Member of the firm's Board of Partners, 2001 – 2007. • Competition law practice - covers merger clearances under the Competition Act and foreign investment reviews under the Investment Canada Act; representing companies in cartel, abuse of dominance and other competition law proceedings; advising on marketing, distribution, grey marketing and joint venture issues; and

Name	Biography
	submissions to governments on competition policy issues. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Trade law practice - includes anti-dumping and subsidy proceedings; NAFTA, WTO, GATT/GATS, and other trade agreement matters; export/import controls and trade sanctions; foreign corrupt practices; investor-state disputes under NAFTA and bilateral investment treaties; and lobbying on trade policy issues. • Industry expertise - worked on cases in most industries with particular emphasis on financial services, energy and natural resources, communications, information technology, automotive, pharmaceuticals and chemicals, food and beverage, and transportation. • Chair (part-time) of the Market Surveillance Panel which monitors the operation of the wholesale electricity markets in Ontario (3-year term 2007 – 2009). • Special Counsel to the CRTC on Canwest/Alliance Atlantis and BCE foreign ownership reviews. • Member of the Competition Bureau’s External Working Group on Reform of the Conspiracy Offence, 2005 – 2007.
Cohen, Marc J.	Marc J. Cohen is a researcher at Oxfam America in Washington, DC. He focuses on protection of civilians in situations of armed conflict; the humanitarian impact of climate change; and institutional reform of humanitarian assistance. Prior to joining Oxfam in 2008, he was a research fellow at the International Food Policy Research Institute, also in Washington. There his work focused on conflict and food security, the right to food, governance and gender issues in rural development, and the design of social protection programs. Cohen received his B.A. in French magna cum laude from Carleton College (USA) and his M.A. and Ph.D. in political science from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Cohen is an adjunct faculty member of the international development program at the Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, the Johns Hopkins University.
Cook, Rebecca	A.B. (Barnard), M.A. (Tufts), M.P.A. (Harvard), J.D. (Georgetown), LL.M. (Columbia), J.S.D. (Columbia), called to the Bar of Washington, D.C., is Professor and Faculty Chair in International Human Rights, and Co-Director of the International Programme on Reproductive and Sexual Health Law in the Faculty of Law at the University of Toronto. She also holds positions in the Faculty of Medicine and the Joint Centre for Bioethics at the University of Toronto. She is ethical and legal issues co-editor of the International Journal of Gynecology and Obstetrics, and serves on the editorial advisory boards of Human Rights Quarterly and Reproductive Health Matters. Updates to her most recent book written with B.M. Dickens and M.F. Fathalla, Reproductive Health and Human Rights: Integrating Medicine, Ethics and Law (Oxford, 2003) (translated into Chinese, French, Portuguese, and Spanish, case studies translated into Arabic) are available at: http://www.law.utoronto.ca/faculty/cook/ReproductiveHealth.html. Her latest book, Gender Stereotyping: Transnational Legal Perspectives, co-authored with Simone Cusack, is forthcoming from University of Pennsylvania Press in 2009.
Copithorne, Maurice	Maurice Copithorne Q.C. is an Honorary Professor in the Faculty of Law at UBC. Earlier, he was in the Canadian Foreign Service for 30 years during which time he served in Ottawa and abroad and among other positions was Departmental Legal

Name	Biography
	Advisor, Assistant Undersecretary for Asia and Pacific, Canadian Ambassador in Vienna and Chairman of the International Atomic Agency. Subsequently, in addition to teaching at UBC, he has served as associate counsel with Ladner Downs in Vancouver for twelve years and as UN Special Representative on the Human Rights situation in Iran for seven years. He has received a variety of honours including an honorary degree from UBC, as well as the Reid Medal from the CCIL.
Craik, Neil	Neil Craik, joined the School of Environment, Enterprise and Development at the University of Waterloo in 2009. Professor Craik's teaching and research interests are broadly in the areas of public and regulatory law, with a focus on international environmental law, domestic and comparative environmental law, natural resources law and municipal and planning law. His current research examines bi-lateral and tri-lateral environmental governance structures in North America, with a particular focus on the impact of federalism on transnational regulatory activities and the regulatory role of private transboundary environmental litigation. Prior to his current appointment at UW, Professor Craik taught at the University of New Brunswick Faculty of Law (2004-2009) and practiced environmental law and municipal law in both the public and private sectors in Ontario (1993-2001). Professor Craik is a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada.
Davies, Marcus	Marcus Davies is a lawyer in the Criminal, Security and Diplomatic Law Division at the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada (DFAIT). His work focuses on international corruption, transnational organized crime, asset recovery and international security. In this capacity, Marcus regularly represents Canada at the UN and other international fora, advises DFAIT on legal developments and has spoken at anti-corruption seminars in Africa and Canada. Prior to joining DFAIT in 2008, Marcus Davies took leave from the Department of Justice in Ottawa, where he had worked as a legal advisor and litigator since 2002, to work in Haiti as a legal advisor to the United Nations Stabilisation Mission in Haiti (MINUSTAH) in 2007. He is a member of Law Society of Upper Canada and a graduate from the National Common and Civil Law program at the University of Ottawa with a Masters in International Affairs from the Norman Paterson School of International Affairs at Carleton University. In addition to his work with DFAIT, he teaches International Human Rights Law at Carleton University.
de Chastelain, John	John de Chastelain was born a British subject in Rumania in 1937 and was educated in Britain before immigrating to Canada in 1955. He graduated from the Royal Military College of Canada in 1960 and served in the Canadian Armed Forces over a forty-year period including two tours as Chief of the Defence Staff and a year in a civilian capacity as Canada's Ambassador to the United States. In November 1995 he became involved in the Northern Ireland peace process along with Senator George Mitchell of the United States and former Finnish Prime Minister Harri Holkeri. The three chaired the talks that led to the Belfast (Good Friday) Agreement of April 1998. Since September 1997, de Chastelain has been Chairman of the Independent International Commission on Decommissioning, charged with decommissioning loyalist and republican paramilitary arms, a role that is ongoing. He is also currently a Senior Advisor on the University of Windsor's Jerusalem Old City Initiative, and on the Board of Directors of the Forum of Federations and the United Nations

Name	Biography
Eisenbrandt, Matt	Association in Canada. He lives in Ottawa. Matt Eisenbrandt is the Legal Coordinator for the Canadian Centre for International Justice (CCIJ) in Ottawa. The CCIJ is a charitable organization that works with survivors of genocide, torture and other atrocities to seek redress and bring perpetrators to justice. Prior to joining the CCIJ, Mr. Eisenbrandt served as the Legal Director for the Center for Justice & Accountability (CJA), a U.S.-based non-profit organization that also works to prevent torture and other severe human rights abuses by helping survivors hold perpetrators accountable through legal cases. During more than five years at CJA, he was the organization's lead counsel in federal trials against military commanders from El Salvador and Haiti as well as a lawsuit against a former Air Force captain for his role in the murder of beloved Salvadoran Archbishop Oscar Romero. Mr. Eisenbrandt is writing a book about the Romero assassination and CJA's investigation of the case. He received a J.D. from the University of Virginia School of Law in 2001 and B.A. degrees in Latin American Studies and History from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign in 1997.
Haley, James A.	Jim was appointed General Director, International Trade and Finance Branch, Department of Finance in November 2007. Prior to his current assignment, he served as Advisor to the International Trade and Finance Branch. In addition to the International Branch, Jim has worked in the Fiscal Policy and Economic Analysis Branch of the Department of Finance, where he was responsible for the Canadian and U.S. economic projections. He also served the Department's Financial Sector Policy Branch at the time of a fundamental review of all legislation governing federally-regulated financial institutions in the mid-1980s. Jim was a staff member of the Research and European II Departments of International Monetary Fund, Washington D.C. and was Research Director in the International Department of the Bank of Canada.
Hameed, Yavar	Yavar Hameed was called to the Ontario Bar in 2001 having completed his Common Law degree at the University of Ottawa in 1999 and a Masters of International Affairs at Carleton University in 2001. Yavar's practice focuses on the protection and advocacy of human rights and civil liberties in a diverse range of legal areas. Yavar has appeared before the Ontario Superior Court of Justice, Ontario Divisional Court, Ontario Court of Appeal, Federal Court, Federal Court of Appeal as well as before the Supreme Court of Canada as Ottawa agent. Since 2001, Yavar has been actively involved in advising clients who have been targeted by CSIS investigations and in relation to other national security matters as a proponent of civil rights in the face of a panoptic "security state". He also teaches a course entitled "State, Security and Dissent" at Carleton University's Department of Law. He has worked with the Montreal based People's Commission on Immigration Security Measures, has provided legal advice to the Support Committee for Mohamed Harkat and has worked with the Ottawa and Montreal based collectives of Noone Is Illegal (NOII) for immigrant, migrant and non-status support. Recently, he acted as counsel in a Federal Court Charter application for Abousfian Abdelrazik, a Canadian citizen who was trapped in Sudan for six years. Mr. Abdelrazik, who returned to Canada on June 27, 2009 pursuant to an order of the Federal Court, was blocked by the Canadian government from returning to his family in Canada on the basis of unsubstantiated national security concerns.

Name	Biography
Hodges, Timothy, J.	Timothy Hodges is Co-chair of the Ad Hoc Open-ended Working Group on Access and Benefit Sharing of Genetic Resources (ABS) under the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD). Elected to this position by the CBD Conference of the Parties in March 2006, Mr. Hodges is co-chairing negotiations of an International ABS Regime, aimed at concluding in October 2010. Previous to his election as Co-Chair, Mr. Hodges was Canada's National Access and Benefit Sharing (ABS) Focal Point. In this capacity, he led Canada's delegations to the CBD's ABS Working Group meetings over several years. Mr. Hodges has also held overall responsibility for the Government of Canada's national ABS policy initiative. In this capacity he was the first Chair of the Canadian Federal Government's ABS Committee and founding Co-Chair of the Federal-Provincial-Territorial ABS Working Group. As a career diplomat, Mr. Hodges has focussed on bilateral and multilateral environmental, economic, and trade negotiations. He has been involved in a wide range of international files relating to technology transfer, science policy, biotechnology, intellectual property rights, genetic resources, indigenous issues, global change and circumpolar affairs, negotiated under the UN General Assembly, G8, WTO, APEC, UN Framework Convention on Climate Change, UN Commission on Sustainable Development, UN FAO, Convention on Biological Diversity, Basel Convention on Hazardous Wastes, OECD, OAS, NAFTA, and numerous other international instruments and organisations. Prior to entering the Canadian Foreign Service, Mr. Hodges held senior policy positions at the Science Council of Canada and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada. Mr. Hodges has published widely on a range of policy issues including science and technology, trade and environment, genetic resources, environmental assessment, biosafety, technology transfer and global change.
Kessel, Alan H.	Alan Kessel is The Legal Adviser at the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade. Prior to this appointment, Mr. Kessel served as Deputy Legal Adviser and Director General of the Bureau of Legal Affairs from September 2004 to November 2005. Mr. Kessel has held numerous positions in the Legal Bureau of the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade including that as Director of the United Nations, Criminal and Treaty Law Division. He was the head of the Canadian Delegation to the United Nations preparatory committees negotiating the establishment of the International Criminal Court. His postings abroad have included the Canadian Embassy in Sweden, the Canadian Mission to the United Nations in Geneva, Switzerland and most recently the

Name	Biography
	Canadian High Commission in London, UK. Mr. Kessel received his bachelor's degree from the University of Waterloo in 1976 and his law degree in 1979 from Osgoode Hall Law School in Toronto. He was called to the Bar of Ontario in 1981. After several years in private practice in corporate and commercial law in Toronto, he joined the Canadian Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade in 1983.
Koh, Harold Hongju	Harold Hongju Koh is the Legal Adviser of the Department of State, the 22d to serve in that position. He is one of the country's leading experts on public and private international law, national security law, and human rights. He is on leave from Yale Law School, where he is the Martin R. Flug '55 Professor of International Law at Yale Law School. From 2004 to 2009, Koh served as the 15th Dean of Yale Law School. From 1993 to 2009, he was also the Gerard C. & Bernice Latrobe Smith Professor of International Law at Yale Law School. From 1998 to 2001, Koh served as Assistant Secretary of State for Democracy, Human Rights and Labor. He previously served on the Secretary of State's Advisory Committee on Public International Law. A Marshall Scholar, Koh graduated from Harvard, Oxford, and Harvard Law School, and has received eleven honorary degrees and more than thirty awards for his human rights work, including awards from Columbia Law School and the American Bar Association for his lifetime achievements in International law. Following clerkships with Judge Malcolm Richard Wilkey of the D.C. Circuit and Supreme Court Justice Harry Blackmun, he served as Attorney-Adviser at the Office of Legal Counsel, Department of Justice and practiced law at Covington & Burling. As a Yale law professor since 1985, Koh has taught courses, authored or co-authored eight books, published more than 170 articles, testified before Congress, and litigated numerous cases involving international law issues. A Fellow of the American Philosophical Society and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a member of the Council of the American Law Institute, he has served on the Board of Editors of the American Journal of International Law and as a Counselor of the American Society of International Law. He has sat on the boards of Harvard University, the Brookings Institution, Human Rights First, the American Arbitration Association, and the National Democratic Institute. He has been named one of America's "45 Leading Public Sector Lawyers Under The Age of 45" by American Lawyer magazine and one of the "100 Most Influential Asian-Americans of the 1990s" by A Magazine.
Kraska, James	Commander Kraska is a Professor of International Law at the U.S. Naval War College, and a Guest Investigator at the Marine Policy Center, Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution. Past military assignments include two tours in Japan, two assignments as legal adviser for operational flag-level group and task force commanders and four Pentagon assignments. The former Oceans Policy Adviser for Director, Strategic Plans & Policy, Joint Chiefs of Staff, he served as the military lead for developing U.S. policy concerning global maritime security, anti-piracy, the Arctic region and international law of the sea.

Name	Biography
	Commander Kraska is an elected member of the International Institute of Humanitarian Law in San Remo, Italy, a Fellow with the Inter-University Seminar on Armed Forces and Society, and Chair of the Use of Force Committee for the American Branch of the International Law Association. His numerous articles have appeared in journals such as Yale Journal of International Law, Ocean Development and International Law, Journal of Marine & Coastal Law, Current History, and Columbia Journal of International Affairs. His most recent work is forthcoming in the Orbis and Stanford Journal of International Law. In December 2009, Commander Kraska will graduate with a Doctor of Juridical Science from the University of Virginia Law School. He also earned a Master of Laws from Virginia Law School, a Doctor of Jurisprudence from Indiana University in Bloomington and a Master's degree in Foreign Affairs from Claremont Graduate School.
Lafontaine, Fannie	Fannie Lafontaine is a lawyer, a Professor at Laval University's Law Faculty, a Regular Member of the Institut québécois des hautes études internationales and a researcher at its International Peace and Security program. Before joining Laval University, she worked as Special Adviser and Human Rights Officer in the Executive Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights in Geneva; as Human Rights Officer and Special Assistant to the President of the International Commission of Inquiry on Darfur; as a lawyer for the Global Justice Center (Justiça Global) in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; as Law Clerk to the Honourable Louise Arbour at the Supreme Court of Canada and as a Barrister at McCarthy Tétrault law firm in Montréal. She graduated with first class honours from Cambridge University and with distinction from Laval University. She publishes mainly in the fields of international criminal law and human rights law. She is a member of the Quebec Bar, of the Canadian Council of International Law, of the Board of Directors of Lawyers without Borders Canada (Avocats sans frontières Canada) and of the Editorial Committee of the Journal of International Criminal Justice.
Leckow, Ross	Ross Leckow is Deputy General Counsel in the Legal Department of the International Monetary Fund in Washington, D.C. A national of Canada, Mr. Leckow has extensive experience in the legal aspects of Fund regulatory and financial operations, and has contributed to the development of Fund policy in a number of important areas including the Fund's surveillance of member countries' economic policies and the Fund's financial assistance to countries experiencing balance of payments crises. He has also advised on a wide range of issues in the area of financial sector reform. Before joining the Fund in 1990, Mr. Leckow practiced law in the private and public sectors in Canada. He lectures frequently on issues of international financial law in the United States and around the world. His recent publications include: "The International Monetary Fund's Legal Instruments to Promote Financial Stability," Current Developments in Monetary and Financial Law, vol. 5 (2008); "The IMF and

Name	Biography
	Crisis Prevention - the Legal Framework for Surveillance," The Kansas Journal of Law and Public Policy (2008); "The IMF/World Bank Global Bank Insolvency Initiative - Its Purposes and Principal Features," Bank Restructuring and Resolution (2006); "Law Reform and Financial Stability-the Growing Role of the International Monetary Fund" Reconciling Law, Justice and Politics in the International Arena (2004).
Linder, Glen	Glen Linder has been Director of the International Affairs Division of the Department of Public Safety since March 2008. In this capacity, he is responsible for providing strategic advice on international policy issues within the mandate of the Public Safety portfolio. Glen joined the public service as a Foreign Service officer in the Department of Citizenship and Immigration and was posted to the Canadian Embassy in Guatemala for two years. On his return, he transferred to the Department of Foreign Affairs, where he worked in the Oceans and Environmental Law Division of the legal bureau, and then moved over to the Department of Justice, where he was legal counsel in the Public International Law Section. Glen obtained his undergraduate degree from the University of Ottawa and his common law and civil law degrees from McGill University.
Mackenzie, Denyse	Denyse MacKenzie joined Canada's Competition Bureau as Senior Deputy Commissioner, Criminal Matters Branch in August 2003. Prior to this, and from January 1999, Ms. MacKenzie was Principal Counsel of the Government of Canada's Trade Law Bureau, the joint trade law unit of the Department of Justice and the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade. As a career diplomat, she served abroad (1980-88) as a Trade Commissioner in Chicago, Madrid and Barcelona, and was Counsellor at the Permanent Delegation of Canada to the Organisation for Economic Development and Cooperation (OECD) in Paris (1991-93). Assignments in Ottawa, included those as Director of the Investment Trade Policy Division (1997-99), Director of the Technical Barriers and Regulations Division, and Deputy Director of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) Division. Ms. MacKenzie was also trade policy advisor to the Honourable Michael Wilson and the Honourable Tom Hockin (1993-94). She received her LL.B. from Osgoode Hall (York University) in 1977.
Miller, R. Scott	Scott Miller is Director, Global Trade Policy for The Procter & Gamble Company. Based in Washington, D.C., Scott is responsible for the full range of international trade, investment, and business facilitation issues for the company. Scott is Chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council's WTO Working Group and of the Trade and Investment Committee of the U.S. Council for International Business. Also, he is Vice Chairman for Policy for the National Center for APEC. Scott advises the U.S. government in several capacities: as a member of the State Department's Advisory Committee for International Economic Policy (ACIEP) and

Name	Biography
	the Commerce Department's Industry Trade Advisory Committee (ITAC) for Consumer Goods; and as Chairman of the ITAC Investment Working Group. Scott helped found the Business Coalition for Capacity Building (2003), and has led many pro-trade business coalitions, including those supporting Trade Promotion Authority (2001-02) and the US-Central America FTA (2003-05). Scott has over 30 years' experience at Procter & Gamble in a range of manufacturing, marketing, and government relations assignments.
Mitchell, Andrew	Andrew Mitchell is Associate Professor at Melbourne Law School. His research focuses on public international law and international economic law. Professor Mitchell was previously a Solicitor with Allens Arthur Robinson. He has also worked in the Trade Directorate of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the Intellectual Property Division of the World Trade Organization (WTO), and the International Monetary Fund (IMF). Professor Mitchell consults for the private sector and international organisations, including Telstra and the World Health Organization (WHO). Professor Mitchell has been Visiting Professor at Georgetown University Law Center; Visiting Fellow at the Lauterpacht Research Centre for International Law, University of Cambridge; Visiting Research Fellow at the British Institute of International and Comparative Law; Visiting Fellow at the Department of Law, London School of Economics; and Scholar-in-Residence at the International Arbitration Group of WilmerHale in London. In 2007, following a nomination by the Australian government, the WTO's Dispute Settlement Body added him to the Indicative List of Governmental and Non-Governmental Panelists to hear WTO disputes. Professor Mitchell's publications include the following books: Legal Principles in WTO Disputes, International Law – In Principle, and Challenges and Prospects for the WTO.
Newcombe, Andrew	Professor Newcombe joined the Faculty of Law of the University of Victoria in 2002. Prior to that, he articulated and practised as an associate with Swinton & Co. (now Miller Thomson) in Vancouver. After pursuing his LL.M., he worked with the International Arbitration and Public International Law groups at Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer in Paris. Professor Newcombe teaches international trade and investment law, international commercial law and arbitration, contract law, and commercial and consumer law. His research currently focuses on international arbitration and international investment. Professor Newcombe created and maintains ita (http://ita.law.uvic.ca), a leading international research website focused on international investment treaty law, practice and dispute resolution. His book, Law and Practice of Investment Treaties: Standards of Treatment (co-authored with Lluís Paradell), was published in February 2009 by Kluwer Law International.
Oosterveld, Valerie	Valerie Oosterveld is an Assistant Professor in the Faculty of Law, University of Western Ontario (Canada). Before joining the faculty in 2005, Valerie served in the Legal Affairs Bureau of Canada's Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade. In that role, she provided legal advice on international criminal accountability for genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes, and international criminal justice institutions. She was a member of the Canadian delegation to the International

Name	Biography
	Criminal Court negotiations and subsequent Assembly of States Parties, and was involved in the creation of the Special Court for Sierra Leone. She earned her J.S.D. and LL.M. at Columbia Law School, her LL.B. from the University of Toronto and her B.Soc.Sc. from the University of Ottawa. Her research and writing focus on international criminal law, especially gender issues within international criminal justice.
Oxman, Bernard H.	Bernard H. Oxman is Richard A. Hausler Professor of Law at the University of Miami School of Law and co-editor in chief of the American Journal of International Law. He served as judge ad hoc of the International Court of Justice and the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea and has also served as arbitrator as well as counsel in public and private international cases. Professor Oxman received his A.B. and J.D. degrees from Columbia, then served on active duty in the International Law Division of the Office of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy, after which he joined the U.S. Department of State, where he was the first Assistant Legal Adviser for Oceans, Environment, and Scientific Affairs. He served as United States Representative to the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea and chaired the English Language Group of the Conference Drafting Committee. He teaches conflict of laws, international law, law of the sea, and torts at Miami, and has also taught at Berkeley (Boalt Hall), Johns Hopkins (SAIS), Paris (Assas), and Stanford. He was associate dean at Miami from 1987 to 1990, Vice President of the American Society of International Law from 2007 to 2009, and currently directs the law school's Master of Laws Program in Ocean and Coastal Law and serves on the university's Faculty Senate. Elected to the American Law Institute and the Council on Foreign Relations, he has written extensively on the law of the sea and other international law topics.
Parent, Geneviève	GENEVIÈVE PARENT is a Professor of Law at Laval University and sits on the Management Committee of the Centre d'études en droit économique (CEDE). Her fields of interests include food security, national and international agri-food legislation, and public international law. She offers the following courses: Agrifood Legislation, Public International Law, and Global Food Security. Her research is rooted in three principal themes: The prediction and analysis of international trade law on Canadian agrifood law; the study and analysis of standards applicable to the marketing and trade of food products from the perspective of sustainable food security, and; the search for a greater harmony between international trade law and other realms of public international law to the extent that it may benefit the global food security.
Rothwell, Donald R.	Donald R Rothwell is Professor of International Law at the ANU College of Law, Australian National University, and Deputy Director of the Australian Centre for Military Law and Justice, Australian National University. His major research interest is international law, with a specific focus on international law and the use of armed force, law of the sea, law of the polar regions, and implementation of international law within Australia. He is a regular commentator on international law issues in the print and electronic media. He has taught a range of courses including Constitutional Law, Law of the Sea, International Environmental Law, International Law and Use of Armed Force, Military Operations Law, and Public International Law. Major

Name	Biography
	publications amongst 11 books and over 100 book chapters and articles include The Polar Regions and the Development of International Law (CUP, 1996), and International Environmental Law in the Asia Pacific (Kluwer, 1998) coauthored with Ben Boer and Ross Ramsay. His most recent book is Maritime Security: International Law and Policy Perspectives from Australia and New Zealand (Routledge, 2009) co-edited with Natalie Klein and Joanna Mossop. He is presently working on projects assessing Antarctica and international security law and theory, and the rights of Australian citizens when detained by foreign governments. Professor Rothwell is a past-President of the Australian New Zealand Society of International Law (ANZSIL), and former Co-Chair of the Australian Canadian Oceans Research Network (ACORN). In 2006 and 2008 he chaired the Sydney and Canberra Panels of Independent International Legal Experts on Japanese 'Special Permit' Whaling.
Schippers, Duane	Duane is currently Deputy Commissioner, Legislative and International Affairs within the Competition Bureau. The Legislative and International Affairs Branch provides enforcement policy input into legislative proposals relating to the Competition Act and other legislation administered and enforced by the Bureau. The Branch also provides competition policy advice to other departmental and government-wide legislative and regulatory initiatives. The Legislative and International Affairs Branch is responsible for advancing the Government of Canada's competition interests in international cooperation, negotiation and policy development fora. The Branch also coordinates the Competition Bureau's competition advocacy initiatives within the Bureau and leads related advocacy work such as competition assessment. Through its advocacy work the Bureau seeks to promote legislation, regulations and government policies that maximize the benefits of competition for Canadians. Duane previously served as Assistant Deputy Commissioner (International Affairs). Prior to joining the Competition Bureau, Duane was a senior counsel with the Department of Justice, Competition Law Division. He has provided legal advice to the Commissioner of Competition and her staff on all aspects of the Competition Act with a particular focus on merger reviews and criminal cartel prosecutions (domestic and international). Duane has appeared before various courts and administrative tribunals on Competition Act matters and has acted as counsel to the Canadian International Trade Tribunal. Duane has also worked in the private sector providing competition law advice focusing on mergers, cartels, misleading advertising and abuse of dominant position as well as providing advice on Canada's foreign investment review legislation. Duane is a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada and has a law degree and a Master's degree in Business Administration (MBA) from the University of Ottawa.
Shelton, Dinah L.	Professor Dinah Shelton holds the Manatt/Ahn Professorship in International Law at the George Washington University Law School, where she has taught since 2004. She previously taught international law and was director of the doctoral program in international human rights law at the University of Notre Dame Law School (1996-

Name	Biography
	2004). She has also lectured at the University of California (Davis), Santa Clara University, Stanford University, University of California (Berkeley), the University of Paris, and the University of Strasbourg, France. Professor Shelton is the author of three prize-winning books, Protecting Human Rights in the Americas (co-authored with Thomas Buergenthal), Remedies in International Human Rights Law, and the three-volume Encyclopedia of Genocide and Crimes against Humanity. She has also authored many other articles and books on international law, human rights law, and international environmental law. Professor Shelton is a member of the board of editors of the American Journal of International Law and Vice-President of the American Society of International Law. She has served as a legal consultant to many international organizations and is on the board of numerous human rights and environmental organizations. In 2006, Professor Shelton was awarded the Elisabeth Haub Prize for Environmental Law. In June 2009, the General Assembly of the Organization of American States elected her to a four year term as a member of the Inter-American Human Rights Commission.
Steger, Debra	Debra Steger is Professor at the University of Ottawa, Faculty of Law where she teaches in the field of international trade, investment, and dispute settlement. She is also the founder and leader of the EDGE Network projects on global economic governance. She was the first Director of the Appellate Body Secretariat of the World Trade Organization in Geneva. During the Uruguay Round, she was the Senior Negotiator for Canada on Dispute Settlement and the Establishment of the World Trade Organization as well as the Principal Counsel to the Government of Canada for all of the Uruguay Round agreements. From 1991-1995, she was General Counsel of the Canadian International Trade Tribunal. She serves on the Executive of the Canadian Council on International Law and as a Member of the Editorial Advisory Board of the Journal for International Economic Law. She also serves on the Board of Advisers to the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) Project on Building Capacity through Training in Dispute Settlement in International Trade, Investment and Intellectual Property, A prolific writer and commentator, she is the author of Peace Through Trade: Building the WTO, Cameron May Publishers 2004, and the editor of Redesigning the World Trade Organization for the 21st Century, forthcoming from the Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI), IDRC and Wilfrid Laurier University Press.
Tachou-Sipowo, Alain-Guy	Cameroonian, LL.M, International Relations, International Relations Institute of Cameroon (2008); LL.M, International Human Rights Law, Nantes University in France (2008); former intern at the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda and at the International Criminal Court; CCIL John Peters Humphrey Fellowship 2009 for a PhD research on how best should international criminal courts respect privileges

Name	Biography
	on confidentiality without prejudicing the sound administration of international criminal proceedings ; Research Assistant with the Peace and Security Program of the Institut Québécois des Hautes Études Internationales and the Laval University Law School.
Thakur, Ramesh	Appointed September 1, 2008, Ramesh Thakur is the inaugural Director of the Balsillie School of International Affairs. Dr. Thakur is also a Distinguished Fellow at the Centre for International Governance Innovation (CIGI) and Professor of Political Science at the University of Waterloo, Canada. Previously, Dr. Thakur was Vice Rector and Senior Vice Rector of the United Nations University (and Assistant Secretary-General of the United Nations) from 1998-2007. Educated in India and Canada, he was a Professor of International Relations at the University of Otago in New Zealand and Professor and Head of the Peace Research Centre at the Australian National University, during which time he was also a consultant/adviser to the Australian and New Zealand governments on arms control, disarmament and international security issues. Dr. Thakur was a Commissioner and one of the principal authors of The Responsibility to Protect (2001), and Senior Adviser on Reforms and Principal Writer of the United Nations Secretary-General's second reform report (2002). The author and editor of over thirty books and 300 articles and book chapters, he also writes regularly for quality national and international newspapers around the world. His most recent books include The United Nations, Peace and Security: From Collective Security to the Responsibility to Protect (Cambridge University Press, 2006) -- winner of the ACUNS 2008 award for the best recent book on the United Nations; and War in Our Time: Reflections on Iraq, Terrorism and Weapons of Mass Destruction (United Nations University Press, 2007).
Tritell, Randolph W.	Randolph Tritell is the Director of the Federal Trade Commission's Office of International Affairs. He is responsible for coordinating the FTC's international antitrust, consumer protection, and technical assistance policies and the FTC's involvement in cases that raise international issues. He represents the Federal Trade Commission in multilateral fora including the International Competition Network, in which he co-chairs the Unilateral Conduct Working Group, and the OECD Competition Committee. He is also responsible for the FTC's negotiation and implementation of bilateral international cooperation agreements and competition and consumer protection provisions of US free trade agreement agreements. Prior to joining the Federal Trade Commission in 1998, Mr. Tritell was a partner with the New York-based law firm of Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP. Following six years in the firm's New York office, in 1992 he opened the firm's Brussels office where he practiced European Community and international competition law. Mr. Tritell began his career at the Federal Trade Commission, serving as a staff attorney in the Bureau of Consumer Protection (1978-81), Assistant to the Director of the Bureau of Consumer Protection (1981-83), Attorney Advisor to Commissioner Terry Calvani (1983-85), and Executive Assistant to the Chairman (1985-86). Mr. Tritell obtained his law degree in 1977 from the University of Pennsylvania Law

Name	Biography
	School, where he was an Editor of the Law Review. He is a 1974 Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the State University of New York at Stony Brook. Mr. Tritell serves on the Council of the American Bar Association's Section of Antitrust Law and on the Steering Group of Section of International Law's Antitrust Committee. He is a frequent lecturer and author, particularly on international antitrust issues, and has taught Federal Trade Commission law in the Master of Laws program of New York University Law School.
von Tigerstrom, Barbara	Barbara von Tigerstrom is Associate Professor in the College of Law and School of Public Health at the University of Saskatchewan. She holds an LL.B. from the University of Toronto and a Ph.D. in law from the University of Cambridge, and has worked at the Supreme Court of Canada, the University of Alberta Health Law Institute, and the University of Canterbury. Barbara teaches in the areas of health law, public health law and policy, administrative law, and international law. Her current research projects focus on chronic disease prevention and the regulation of drugs and medical devices. As principal investigator on two projects funded by the Canadian Institutes of Health Research she has been examining the role of legal interventions in the prevention of obesity and the use of tax incentives in health promotion. Her articles, book chapters, and presentations have covered a range of topics in health and public health law, international trade law, and international issues in health and biotechnology. She is the author of Human Security and International Law: Prospects and Problems (Hart Publishing, 2007) and co-editor of International Law Issues in the South Pacific (Ashgate, 2005).
Weekes, John	A veteran of 38 years in the field of trade policy and negotiations, John Weekes is an independent international trade policy adviser based in Ottawa providing advice to clients in business and government. He is an active member of the Board of the Alberta Livestock and Meat Agency. From 2003 until July Mr Weekes was Senior International Trade Policy Adviser at Sidley Austin LLP based in the firm's Geneva office and still acts as Senior International Trade Policy Adviser to the firm. He provides strategic advice to the firm's clients across a broad range of international trade and other policy matters. He serves on the board or as adviser to a number of non-profit organizations. He is a frequent speaker on the challenges facing the trading system and related political issues. Mr Weekes participates regularly in conferences on these subjects and contributes articles to newspapers and magazines. Mr Weekes was Canada's Ambassador to the WTO from 1995 to 1999 and Chair of the WTO General Council in 1998. He served as Canada's Chief Negotiator for the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), including for the side agreements on environmental and labor co-operation. He was Ambassador to GATT during the Uruguay Round of multilateral trade negotiations and Chair of the GATT Council in 1989 and then of the GATT Contracting Parties in 1990. In the 1970s he participated

Name	Biography
	in the Tokyo Round of GATT negotiations. Prior to joining Sidley Austin in May 2003, Mr Weekes was Chair of the Global Trade Practice at APCO Worldwide, an international public affairs and communications consultancy.
Yannaca-Small, Katia	Katia Yannaca-Small is Senior Counsel with the International Centre for the Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID). In this capacity, she administers investment disputes brought before the Centre and also works on issues of outreach policy related to the Centre's activities. Prior to joining ICSID, she was the Legal Advisor to the OECD Investment Division, where she was responsible for analytical work on all legal issues related to international investment agreements and in particular developments in investor-state dispute settlement. The results of this work on both substantive issues related to the interpretation of investment agreements and procedural issues of investment arbitration have been published the last few years by the OECD and also translated into Russian and Chinese. She is also the editor and co-author of a forthcoming book on Investment Arbitration to be published in the first quarter of 2010 by Oxford University Press. She holds a J.D. from the Athens University Law School, Greece; two postgraduate degrees (D.E.A.) on Public International Law and International Economic Law from the University Paris I -Sorbonne and is a graduate of the Ecole Nationale d'Administration (ENA), France. She is fluent in English, French and Greek and has also working knowledge of Spanish, German and Russian.